CANNY JAPAN TIES A STRING TO HER REPLY TO HARDING

Says Give Us Agenda On What Is Proposed At Conference

HARA IS VAGUE

Hints At Points Other Than Disarmament To Consider

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, July 14.—The Foreign Office has issued this evening the Japanese Government's answer to President Harding's proposals. The invitation to attend the conference on the limitation of armaments is accepted, but the Government asks for the agenda of the Pacific Conference before definitely accepting the invitation thereto.

HARA IS VAGUE

Tokio, July 14.—The Premier, Mr. Hara, interviewed by the Kokusai News Agency, spoke as follows: "It is impossible for me to say much at present on the proposal for a conference put forward by President Harding, as it involves not only the armament question, on which public opinion in Japan is in entire accord with that of America, but also many other points which require the careful consideration of the Government. But this much I can say—that the Japanese Government has received the American Government's proposal with the greatest sympathy.

"It is the earnest wish of the Japanese Government to do all in its power that may help to remove existing doubts and misunderstanding, in order that peace and goodwill may reign everywhere in the world."

Discussing the proposed Pacific Conference, Viscount Shibusawa, in common with many other leaders of thought, preferred not to make any definite statement without knowing what exactly is in the minds of its promoters. He hoped there would be no proposal to re-open discussions on questions which had already been settled at the Peace Conference, as if this were done it would be unlikely to achieve a useful purpose.

CHINA ACCEPTS

Washington, July 14.—China's unqualified acceptance of President Harding's invitation to a conference of the Powers has been received.

ADDISON QUITS; SAYS HOUSING CURTAILMENT IS BREACH OF FAITH

Shifting Opportunism Is His Characterisation Of Government

IS NOT TRUE ECONOMY

Successor Tells Of Present Project; 139,000 Now Are In Construction

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 14.—In the House of Commons today, questioned as to whether the Government would reverse the policy of Dr. Addison (his predecessor) to provide 300,000 houses as a contribution towards the shortage of 500,000 in 1919, and abandon housing subsidies, the Minister of Health (Sir Alfred Mond) said that 116,000 houses had been or were being built and had been approved under the scheme for local authorities, and 23,000 under the scheme of subsidies to private builders. These two lots were costing the State annually £10,000,000 and £5,000,000 respectively.

The Government, he said, had decided, owing to the financial situation, to limit construction by the local authorities to 176,000 houses, while private builders should be paid in full for houses completed by April 23 last, and subsidised for additional houses if begun before the 1st instant. The Government were prepared to contribute £200,000 towards the deficiency of the local authorities' accounts for the improvement of slum areas.

After question-time, Dr. Addison (Minister without Portfolio) read a letter he had sent to the Prime Minister, tendering his resignation. He said therein that he considered the Government's curtailment of his housing scheme was a breach of faith and a precipitate abandonment of an effort essential to national restoration, and was not true economy. The Government of the country could not, he said, safely rest on shifting opportunism.

Jews To Make Palestine Land Of Milk And Honey

Zionist Leaders Plan Forests To Restore Rainfall And Will Irrigate Now Arid Desert

By Bruce Hopper

"Beautiful for situation, the joy of the whole earth is Mount Zion," sang the psalmist in days of old when Israel dwelt on high, and there was plenty in the land.

With peace and resemblance to order restored to Palestine the rest of the world is watching the activities of Zionists on the threshold of their great dream. The enthusiasts stand today on Mount Pisgah, and view the Canaan of their ancestral heritage. What will be the eventual goal of the immigrants, and how attained?

Isaiah prophesied "they shall build the old wastes, they shall raise up the former desolation." Throughout eighteen centuries since the great Dispersion of the chosen people, the world has heard their ceaseless cry for redemption from exile and restoration to the land given to Abraham. The promise has been fulfilled.

Abraham's seed has multiplied like the sands of the sea. It has flourished in every clime. And the time seems at hand when indigenous Jews need no longer wail before the walls of Solomon, for Jerusalem fallen, when Jewish people may speak the Hebrew language throughout the length and breadth of the land which always has been Israel.

JEWRY IN BALANCE

Jewry today hangs in the balance. Fortunately, the leaders of Zionism are men not only of vision, but of practicable method. They realise that the eighth crusade to Palestine, differing from the other seven in that it is a peaceful penetration, must have a sounder economic program than that of the Knights Templars, or the child crusaders.

Back to the land is the cry, and the land will yield the milk and honey first found by Joshua and Caleb. For Palestine does not need money changers, but farmers believing in the dignity of labor, not bankers but agricultural experts.

In view of the past pursuits of Jews throughout the world it will be interesting to watch the evolution of the Jewish merchant and trader into tillers of the soil. People long accustomed to metropolitan life will have to study the laws of nature, the processes of sowing and reaping, animal husbandry and agronomy.

REFORESTATION SCHEME

Turkish neglect during the centuries has had a natural result in deforestation. Not only have the wheat stretches of Hauran become desolate and barren, but the slopes which once were green with the olive and fig are now sterile and scorched by the hot winds from the south. The summer droughts have become longer. The climate has changed during the Christian era, is less equable, less temperate.

To bring back the merciful rains of summer the promoters of the National Jewish Fund have begun a gigantic scheme of re-foresting. Between Jaffa and Jerusalem are two estates of the Herzl Forest, which form the nucleus for the great re-planting areas.

Other estates are in the valley of Jezreel, between Haifa and Damascus, Chinnereth and Dangania by the Sea of Galilee, and Chederah, Garden of Samuel, where oranges, lemons, and apricots are planted in experimental plots.

SCHOOLS FOR FARMING

These estates are the transformation schools. Jews from New York, London, or the industrial towns of central Europe go there for instruction in farming. Those who have means will be able to lease land bought by the Jewish National Fund, and retain the leasehold and building

ROBBERS SEIZE WOMEN IN PARTY OF MISSIONARIES

Soldiers Arrive To Save Them From Bandits' Second Attack

(China Press Correspondence)

Ichowfu, Shantung, July 11.—Not in many years have the people of this vicinity been so troubled by the depredations of robber bands as they have been these last few weeks. With kaoliang harvest still over a month away, the prosepects of immediate relief are small. There is an unusually large acreage of this tall grain this year, and it affords the best of hiding places for those who have designs on the traveler.

Last Friday evening, while en route to this city by water, the boat on which the Rev. George F. Browne was traveling was attacked by a band of robbers, and Mr. Browne and four Chinese who were with him were compelled to follow them off into the country. All their money, clothing and valuables were taken from them, and for a time it looked as if matters had reached a very serious stage.

Finally they seemed to realise that they were doing a decidedly risky thing in taking a foreigner, so told the travelers they might return to their boat.

This they started to do, but before it could be reached the robbers returned and tried to get the two ladies of the party, one of whom was graduated in medicine this year in Peking, and was on her way to take her year's interneship in the Ichowfu Women's Hospital.

Fortunately, a number of soldiers put in their appearance at this time, and after an exchange of shots the robbers ran off in the kaoliang fields. The boat was turned around and started for a small town a few miles down the river.

Before it had gone far, the robbers returned for the third time. The boatmen engaged them in conversation and under cover of darkness Mr. Browne and party made their escape to shore. It was raining and they feared to travel the open road, but after an experience which was anything but pleasant, reached a town where adequate protection was given them.

This is the first time a foreigner has been attacked, and the matter has been reported to the American officials in Tsinanfu.

U-Boat Men Foiled When They Seek To Prove Misuse Of Ship

(Reuter's Service)

Leipzig, July 14.—At the resumption of the trial of Dittmar and Boldt—the German submarine commanders charged with murder, in that they fired at lifeboats containing survivors of the British hospital ship Llandovery Castle after they had torpedoed the hospital ship—the Prosecutor objected to the defence calling witnesses to prove the alleged British misuse of hospital ships. The President of the Court ruled that such evidence was irrelevant, and said that if the defence persisted in calling witnesses the case would have to be adjourned. The counsel for the defence ultimately agreed not to submit such evidence.

Air Plane Engine Stalls; Four Fall 600 Ft. To Death

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Modesto, Calif., July 14.—Four persons have been killed as the result of a commercial aeroplane crashing from a height of 600 feet, due to the engine stalling. They comprised the pilot Mr. Harold Coffey, who was born at Modesto and was formerly an Army aviator; Mr. Giocondi J. Apulze, the builder of the aeroplane, and Messrs. John H. Kauke and A. MacLeish, his associates, of Berkeley. The bodies were so burned as to be unrecognisable.

EDITOR AND BANK MAN IN FIST FIGHT; DUEL LOOMS

Sensational Encounter In Offices Of L'Echo de Chine

VANDELET CALM

Sequel To Suspension Of Banque Industrielle de Chine

A further repercussion to the recent—whatever it was that happened to the Banque Industriene de Chine—was registered yesterday afternoon in the offices of L'Echo de Chine when a member of the bank staff called upon the editor to express dissatisfaction with the tenor of certain articles published in the paper in connection with the state of affairs.

The interview was one fraught with all the frills which Mark Twain found to accompany the gentle art of journalism in Tennessee—words of potent significance were bandied, a duel was mentioned by one party and rejected by the other, fisticuffs followed, much furniture and glassware became involved in the argument, the editor's wife was inadvertently struck and finally the caller left the office bleeding from various cuts about the face and head and sought medical attendance. The extent of his injuries could not be learned last night, nor could his version of the affair be obtained.

TAKES IT CALMLY

M. Vandelet, editor of L'Echo de Chine, when interviewed by THE CHINA PRESS late last night, recounted the circumstances of the affair as casually as he would a night at the opera. He declared the young man regaled him with improper epithets, and offered to chastise him physically, were it not for his editorial grey hair.

The editor declares he suggested the usual two witnesses to make the affair one of honor, but, he asserts, his offer was rewarded by a cuff on the ear. In the grappling which followed the office of L'Echo de Chine was somewhat wrecked. The young man, according to the editor, was cut by the broken glass of the book cases into which he fell, and not by the editorial shears. The editor further declares that his assailant struck his wife, but generously adds that he does not think the blow was intentional. He believes the blow was struck when the visitor toppled backward over the editorial chair.

EDITOR STANDS PAT

M. Vandelet asserts that he does not know the young man personally, but has seen him about the city. He of course knows the young man's name, but says he is not using it in his published account of the affray. He ascribes the assault to the folly of youth, but says he stands pat on what he writes in L'Echo de Chine whoever his assailants may be. He also believes that the young man was sent by another man to pick a quarrel with him. And while there was a pistol holster on M. Vandelet's desk the interviewer did not see the pistol itself.

Mother Brands Boy As Illegitimate In Order To Retain His Custody

CAN a mother's love offset the brand of illegitimacy which she herself has placed upon her child? The answer to this all-human-interest question is being sought by many in California and other parts of the country, following the action of Mrs. M. del Secco of San Francisco, who denies that her former husband, Julian Sorine, is the father of her boy.

Mr. Sorine is suing for the custody of the boy Eugene, whom he claims as his own son. Mrs. del Secco declares Sorine is not the father of her boy. The case has aroused a great deal of interest and it has been suggested that the Dr. Albert Abrams blood test be made and sculptor's measurements taken to determine scientifically little Eugene's parentage.

In China Rumors Break All Records For Speed

By Elsie McCormick

THOUGH living in China may offer many inducements to a sedentary existence, there is one part of the physical mechanism that never suffers from lack of training.

China is the land par excellence of the athletic tongue.

From Kalgan to Canton, the country is, for the foreign residents, a village street where the ladies have callouses on their elbows from leaning over the back fences and overdeveloped muscles on the rear of their faces from indulgence in lingual acrobatics.

It is doubtful if even an orthodox and mild-mannered oyster could live in a foreign community here without drawing invidious remarks about the way it wears its shell. If silence were really golden, practically all the residents would be on their way to the poor-house.

NOT ONLY IN CHINA

To be sure, the gentle art of summing up one's neighbor's peculiarities in three volumes and an appendix is by no means unknown at home. More than one lady has damaged her hearing from trying to catch all the conversations over the party wire and putting them into cold storage with a view to retail purposes later on.

In most small towns, everybody except Mary Smith's mother knows that when Mary is supposed to be at the Girl Scouts' meeting, she is really out walking with that terrible Jones boy, who once spoke to a real chorus girl in New York, and the affair is vividly commented upon at every meeting from the Lady Maccabees to the Daughters of the American Revolution.

In the larger cities, however, the people who live in the right side of the house don't know what the left side doeth, and though they might have their suspicions of the lady tenant who changes her name every Tuesday and Thursday, they don't gossip much about her because they don't know anyone else in the building to gossip with.

NOR DO THEY CARE

People frequently live for years in the same apartment-house without knowing whether those with whom they exchange glares in the elevator are bankers or manufacturers of sausage casings.

When anyone dies in New York the neighbors find out about it by reading the notice in the paper. We remember seeing a moving van carry off the chattels of a neighboring residence and hearing our landlady remark that though she and this family had lived side by side for twenty years, they had never been in each other's homes.

People who are accustomed to leading a life as inconspicuous as that of a black cat in a coal-cellar are rudely jarred when the residents of the Far East jerk them out in the open and put them under the social spotlight.

The protective coloring which hid their activities at home by making them look just like the rest of their human environment is of no avail in the Orient. Apparently there is nobody too retiring or lacking in distinction to escape the merciless glare of the calcium and the subsequent verbal message. A person has about as much chance of hiding away in China as a cherry in a cocktail.

EASING FROM THE DOCK

The first play of the footlights is observable on the steamer. When the ship veers away from the dock, it becomes a little floating world in which no inhabitant is lacking in interest to the others. No voyage is considered a success unless there is at least one scandal on board. There is always a lady with an extensive wardrobe and hennaed hair, familiarly known as "the vamp," and a man who is evidently on a liquid diet.

Besides these outstanding celebrities, however, every passenger receives a share of public attention. Alas for the man who cuts loose from Mr. Hoyle, Noah Webster, and other authorities on decorum, merely on the ground that it doesn't matter because he'll never see any of these people again!

Regardless of whether he buries himself in the wilderness north of Saigon or the mountainous wastes of Kweichow, he'll meet somebody who'll remark on introduction, "Oh, yes, I came over on the boat with you. You were the one who hung around so much with that little blonde widow from Hackensack. Do you remember the time you tried to sing 'Sweet Adeline' down in the salon?"

UNDER THE SPOTLIGHT

The harried traveler has about as much chance of escaping other people's memories of his voyage as a cat has of getting away from its tail. About the only way to play safe is to be seasick for the duration of the trip.

But even after landing, the spotlight continues to play on

TREASON NOT TO AID PRINCE OF PEACE IN IRISH CRISIS

Lloyd George Calls On All To Abandon Bitter and Wasteful Feud

ADMITS BLUNDERS

Calls De Valera Chieftain Of Vast Majority Of Irish Race

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 15.—After intimating regrets at his inability to attend, owing to the conversations on the Irish question, Mr. Lloyd George put in an unexpected appearance at the Coalition Liberals' dinner at the Hotel Cecil, last night, when he delivered an important speech.

Referring to the Irish question, the Prime Minister declared that he had just left His Majesty, the King "to whom the country owed a great debt of gratitude for one of the greatest services rendered." Proceeding, Mr. Lloyd George said he could see light at the end of the tunnel.

TEMPEST SUBSIDING

There had been a remarkable change in the past few weeks—the human tempest seems to be subsiding and there is a spirit of conciliation."

A better industrial outlook now existed between employers and workers than there had been for years past.

Then there was a remarkable transformation in Ireland. He drew attention to the fact that Mr. Eamonn de Valera—"chieftain of a vast majority of the Irish race"—had been conferring with him for nearly three hours, and discussing various methods and suggestions for a settlement of the long controversy, and the old and bitter and wasteful feud between the Irish and the British peoples—a feud in which there have been for ages long a number of disastrous blunders. Endless opportunities have been lost; let us trust that this one will not be lost.

"I only say this—after a three hours' discussion we are again meeting tomorrow morning. I am certain that we both did our best to secure peace, although we both have difficulties to deal with.

MANKIND IN MAKING

"I appeal to men of all parties to remember like men that the destiny of mankind is in the making. Drop everything—all trivialities, personal or otherwise—and help the Prince of Peace.

"It is treason not to give support at this moment.

"We are engaged in one task, the old task of 'peace on earth.' I ask all men and women in all parts of the country to help."

Referring to disarmament, the Prime Minister said that no matter what treaties had been signed, what pacts had been concluded, or what Leagues or Associations of Nations had been founded, if nations continued to arm against each other for war, war would ensue in the end.

He therefore hoped that the proposed conference would produce a real arrangement which would involve the keeping of armaments within innocuous limits.

The gathering was demonstrative in its enthusiasm, and sang, "For he's a jolly good fellow."

London, July 14.—The fateful Irish conferences were inaugurated in London today, beginning with a private interview between Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Eamonn de Valera at Downing Street to discuss the basis of the larger conference to which the Prime Minister has invited representatives of Sinn Fein, and the Ulster Parliament and Government.

On his arrival at Downing Street, Mr. Lloyd George was cheered by a small crowd. Subsequently, Sir Hamar Greenwood, Chief Secretary for Ireland, and Mr. Austen Chamberlain arrived. Then cheering and the waving of Sinn Fein flags by hundreds of Irish who had assembled at the bottom of the Street, heralded the arrival of Mr. de Valera, accompanied by Mr. R. C. Barton, M. P.

The Conference lasted two hours and a half. During the deliberations, a large crowd of Irish sympathisers in Whitehall incessantly recited the rosary and sang hymns and Irish songs.

CONVERSE ALONE

It is officially announced that Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. de Valera conversed alone. Their views were freely exchanged and their relative positions defined, and the conversation will be resumed tomorrow morning.

In response to an invitation to confer with the Prime Minister, Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, is expected in London tomorrow afternoon.

Signs of the truce in Ireland are exemplified by the trainloads of auxiliaries who are departing for England on indefinite leave. Lorry-loads of unarmed auxiliaries are also leaving Dublin daily for sea bathing.

Dublin Castle announces today that no reports of outrages in any part of Ireland have been received.

Three hundred members of the Irish Republican Army today passed through Athlone to their homes after seven months' absence. One section, on sighting a military lorry, stood at attention and saluted the British soldiers, who returned the salute. Both parties then exchanged compliments, waving their handkerchiefs.

"The Mermaid"

Danilov and Mashir are two names which will live long with Shanghai music lovers—they will remember Danilov two years ago in "Pique Dame" and Mashir on the present tour in "Mimi" of "La Boheme."

But last night another was added—Karlash, who sang the part of The Miller in Dorgomisky's "The Mermaid," a Russian opera not too well known but which gave the company now at the Lyceum Theater ample opportunity to demonstrate its talents.

A poor house, much smaller than the production reserved, heard the delightful rendition. The audience marvelled in Danilov and Mashir but were agreeably surprised with Karlash, whose singing and acting even exceeded his Mephistopheles in "Faust." Mr. Tulzinoff and Miss Valentinova were the other principals and both were valuable additions to the sterling principals.

At home in their own Russian opera—perhaps even more so than in "Eugen Onegin"—the really fine company with their best artists singing the leads—gave a remarkably fine performance. Mr. Danilov and Miss Mashir last night again proved their ability as dramatic singers and they scored heavily again in difficult parts.

The opera itself is not one of the "popular" works. Russians argue for and against Dorgomisky, compare his lyrics with Tschaikowsky's brilliantly subtle compositions. But Dorgomisky is hilarious where Tschaikowsky is dignified.

Russians last night debated whether the Company at the Lyceum was better last night in "The Mermaid" than in Tschaikowsky's "Eugen Onegin." And the differences were settled by the words Danilov and Mashir.

Danilov and Mashir (with Karlash) were given applause last night that brought curtain call after curtain call. The audience was even more enthusiastic over Mashir in "The Mermaid" than Mashir as "Mimi," and she was infinitely better in "La Boheme."

Tonight the Company will sing the wonderful "Mignon" and the production should be greeted by a capacity house. The opera and the people who are singing "Mignon" are worthy of it.

St. George's Opening

St. George's Cafe on Bubbling Well Road is to have its grand opening tonight, with a special dinner de luxe and dance. The cafe has been given over to the management of Bob Akeo, formerly in charge of the Parisien Cafe; the Parisien orchestra, with Harry Kerry directing will furnish the music; the catering will be done by the old Parisien staff.

The opening tonight of the St. George's Cafe means in brief that the Parisien Cafe has moved out to the Bubbling Well resort, and that the popular restaurant-ball room in the Ben Building has had its last night of entertaining.

Manager Akeo, formerly of the Parisien, now of St. George's yesterday explained the move to the Western district as being but for the summer season. He expects that the service, the cool ball room, the verandahs and the gardens of St. George's will attract the public that formerly patronised the Parisien, and at the same time becomes a most popular resort for residents of the Bubbling Well district.

A new Parisien will be opened in the fall, Manager Akeo promised yesterday. The location will be central, in the French side of the city, though he was not prepared yesterday to give an exact address. The new city resort will be bigger. It will be ready for the winter season.

Chang Tso-lin Paving Way With Propaganda Tracts In Native Characters

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 13.—The Mongolian and Tibetan Affairs Bureau has drawn up and printed large numbers of pamphlets in the Mongolian language, setting forth the objects of the Mongolian Expedition, for distribution among the Mongol tribes. These pamphlets have been sent to Mukden and the Expeditionary Force will see to their distribution.

The gendarmerie at Kalgan are detaining a party of 17 officers—one stated to be a Serbian and the others Russians—who arrived at Kalgan without passports either from the Chinese or from the Russian authorities.

It is reported again today that aeroplanes will be used by the Mongolian Expeditionary force, but Reuter's Agency is informed authoritatively that no aeroplanes will be diverted from commercial purposes and that no others are available for military use. There is no doubt that General Chang Tso-lin desires to use aeroplanes in Mongolia and that they would be of great value to the Expedition, but there appears to be no likelihood, at present of suitable machines being procured.

The North-West Motor Department at Kalgan has notified the Ministry of Communications that a large number more cars are needed to meet military requirements in Mongolia and asks the Ministry to make the necessary purchases.

merrily. The young lady who accepts a few invitations to the movies or the Carlton finds herself engaged to her escort, the bans having been read at half a dozen bridge parties.

The wife who leaves town for a short holiday discovers that she is about to get a divorce from her husband, the grounds ranging from extreme cruelty to habitual intoxication. The young man who walks a block along Nanking Road with a married woman tears a rent in his reputation at every step. Each tea-dance is hashed over in several hundred boudoirs—escorts, costumes, and manner of dance being reviewed under a conversational microscope.

There are no society columns in Shanghai newspapers for the simple reason that they would be quite superfluous. Everybody knows who was there and what they were long before the story could be reduced to cold type.

AMAHS ARE EFFICIENT

The Paul Reveres who spread most of the tidings wear Chinese costume and answer to the name of amah. While the children happily get their feet wet in the French Park and elsewhere, or while the lingerie is drying on the line, the amahs gather in conclave and trade news about their mississes.

Manicure amahs are especially qualified for walking newspapers, their journeys from house to home giving them unusual opportunities for observation. Some of them are sufficiently good at subtle cross-examining to score great success as attorneys.

Between snips of the manicure scissors they put forth guarded inquiries concerning where missee was last night, who else was there, where the family is going for the summer and other pieces of bait. Then, having added somewhat to her stock, she begins: "You savee Missee Blank? Go party allee time. Too muchee cocktail, too muchee play card. Master velly angly. Missee Smith say she no b'long ploper."

Scientists who say that light does the fastest traveling in the universe have never held the stop-watch for a Shanghai rumor.

We don't know just what the design is on the city's official seal, but in case Shanghai should ever need another, we would suggest a tongue rampant, and the motto, "Well, from what I heard—" rights hereditary in their families. Those who have no money of their own will be assisted from the fund. The land purchased will be the common property of the Jewish people.

Already there are nearly 100 Jewish farming settlements on the littoral plain between Gaza and Haifa, and on the shores of the Sea of Galilee. As fast as the returning immigrants finish their agricultural instruction at the estates they are distributed to unsettled areas.

Experts are employed to study the local problems. A scheme for reducing malaria is now in its initial stage, planting eucalyptus trees in the marshes to dry up the soil, and thus remove the breeding grounds of the mosquitoes. The bee industry has been introduced, and planters are experimenting with tabacco.

IRRIGATION UNDER WAY

Although flow of the water from the north is insufficient to permit gigantic irrigation projects for the present every effort is being made to conserve the supply. As the re-foresting goes on the rainfall will increase, and, therefore, possibilities of irrigation systems are not remote.

In the meantime dry farming methods, which have turned the American arid west into a vast granary, are being applied with success. The granaries of Hauran have been ceded to Syria under French mandate, but there are other wheat growing regions in Palestine. The Jordan valley in a few years will be exporting rice, sugar, cotton and dates. The oranges, figs and almonds of the coast already have a large market.

HARBORS AND TRADE

A great work is going forward in the building of adequate harbors at Jaffa and Haifa. These two ports face the open sea. Moles and breakwaters are to be constructed, large enough to accomodate the ocean liners which ply on the trade from Asia Minor to Egypt.

One happy result expected of the Jewish return to the land of corn and wine is a blooming health of the race. After the immigrants are acclimated, and accustomed to daily toil in the open air, we should see Jews of the physique of Jehu's warriors, and with the ruddy cheeks of David.

The return to Zion is one of the greatest economic experiments of history. Success will depend upon the Jew's reaction to the soil.

Mixed Court Jottings

The coolie arrested following a fatal assault upon an Indian watchman at the South Manchurian Railway wharf Wednesday night appeared again in the Mixed Court yesterday when the charge against him was amended to one of murder. Warrants were ordered to issue for others involved in the affair and the case was remanded one week.

A shop assistant was sentenced to five years' imprisonment and a coolie to three years' imprisonment, both sentences to be followed by expulsion, for daylight highway robbery of a bank messenger who was carrying $46,000 in cash and Chinese bank orders. The robbery occurred on Pakhoi Road and the money was being sent to the bank from the Tai Chong Cigarette Company offices at 700 Avenue Edward VII. $2,000 in notes and $7,695 worth of bank orders were recovered. The principal accused admitted the robbery but said he thought the package contained opium. The police are looking for a third man.

COL. McLEMORE

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

San Francisco, July 14.—The death has occurred here of Colonel Albert McLemore, of the Marine Corps, who served in the Philippines during the Spanish war.

COL. F. W. GALBRAITH

American newspapers just received here chronicle the death of Col. Frederick W. Galbraith, jr., national commander of the American Legion at Indianapolis, Ind., on June 9 when an automobile in which he was riding run over an embankment. Funeral services took place on June 11.

The deceased was held in the greatest esteem, messages from all over the United States have been sent to his widow, including one from President Harding.

Colonel Galbraith was elected national commander of the American Legion on Sept. 29 last. During the war he served in command of the 1st Ohio National Guard at Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, which subsequently became the 147th Infantry and embarked for overseas in June, 1918. He fought at St. Mihiel, the Argonne and in Belgium, and was decorated for personal bravery by the French and Belgians.

As head of the American Legion he has been active in behalf of the organisation in urging legislation favorable to ex-service men. His public addresses have been marked with forceful utterances against hyphenated Americans, and arguing for bonds of good will with our Allies in the World War. Colonel Galbraith was born at Watertown, Mass., May 6, 1874. He entered the Massachusetts Nautical Training School, where he sought to prepare for Annapolis, but was over age.

At the end of a three-year course he was assigned to the ship Enterprise, and sailed for Japan. Transferred to the merchant vessel Diego he was promoted to be third mate. Altogether, as student and mate, he was at sea six years, during which time he called for Japan twice.

Five Days Hard Fighting Necessary For Short Gain From Wuchow

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Canton, July 14.—Consular reports from Hoihow, Hainan, confirm the reported capture of Pakhoi by the Kwangsi forces on the 2nd, and state that there was no damage to foreign property.

Hongkong, July 14.—After five days' fierce fighting and heavy casualties, the Cantonese have captured Tanghsin and Tangyuen.

According to the Postal Map, the proper spelling of Tanghsin should be Tengyuen, a city five kilometers west of Wuchow on the Si Kiang. The capture of the city indicates that the Cantonese are making progress towards their objective, Sungchow, which is about 12 kilometers west of the captured city.

Sungchow, in turn, is only 2? kilometers from Nanning, the headquarters of the Kwangsi war lord and monarchist, Lu Yung-ting.

The Thinker
By Auguste Rodin
The Famous French Sculptor

Deeply depressed, hungry and overcome by his troubles, Rodin's model, so the story goes, sat dejectedly in a corner of the studio, unconscious that the desperate picture he made was caught by the keen eye of the master—to be immortalized in the above now celebrated work of sculpture known as "The Thinker."

MAN and his problems

"The Thinker" express the crestfallen lot of the man who has never given serious thought to the future during the heyday of his earning capacity.

Better to give serious thought to the future now and make reasonable provision against the less prosperous days which may fall to your lot than to trust merely to luck.

GET TOGETHER WITH US, MR. ONO URGES AMERICA

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, July 11.—Co-operation between the Chinese bankers is one of the most hopeful signs of the times in China, in the opinion of Mr. Ono, representative of the Japanese banking group which made the Nishihara loans. With a continuance of their policy of co-operation and sound banking policies, and a due appreciation on the part of the people, they can ultimately solve most of the financial problems and China will not be so dependent on outside loans, Mr. Ono believes.

"This co-operation might be an object lesson, Mr. Ono also believes and he told our representative that full co-operation between Chinese and Japanese bankers and American manufacturers, would prove one of greatest of blessings to all three.

"While the thing that impresses me most in Peking is the rapid strides the Chinese bankers are taking and the steady increase in the buying power of the people, there is another situation that is not quite so pleasing," said Mr. Ono. "I mean the constant feeling of antagonism between Americans and Japanese who are here.

DEPLORES ATTITUDE

"We find the situation such that if a Japanese group of citizens or business men inaugurate some plan, the Americans oppose it. It is just as true the other way around. If the Americans have a plan, the Japanese oppose it. This matter of opposing things just because they happen to be American or Japanese is not good for business or for mutual friendship.

"What we should do, is to get together, lay aside our prejudices and work for the good of all. The Japanese and Americans in China and the Chinese, should unite and work for the good of all. Just now China needs financial assistance and she needs industrial development. Japan is in a position to lend the money for sound industrial enterprises and America can make and sell the machinery necessary to this development. The extension of the Peking-Suiyuan line to Paotou is an example of such co-operation. The loan was made and the road is soon to be built. The larger part of the money to be sent for locomotives and cars will be spent with American firms.

"Japan is at all times loyal to the Consortium but it is disappointing that the Consortium has done nothing so far. If constructive business cannot be done that way then the co-operation I mention would seem logical."

Mr. Ono said that while the matter of a loan on the Kirin-Hweiling project had been rumored, no loans had been made nor had terms of loans been discussed.

WON'T DISCUSS LOANS

The project was mentioned in the conversations between Mr. Ono and members of the Chinese Government but he obtained the impression that the Chinese are not now especially interested in that project. The Nishihara loans would not be discussed by Mr. Ono. He did say, however that he was optimistic over the situation and let the subject go at that.

Japan is just now having a hard time with her manufacturers, Mr. Ono said and the country is not doing the volume of business with China that she hopes to do. The high costs of production brought about by conditions following the World War, have made it especially difficult for the Japanese to manufacture goods for sale in China. This condition will be remedied in time however.

While Mr. Ono did not discuss the question of Japanese financial interest in the Chinese Eastern Railway, members of the Legation staff today said that Mr. Ono was not interested in making a loan to that road. They said flatly that he did not intend to place any loans on the road for the banking group he represents.

Sino-British Bank Plans Maturing

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, July 12.—Plans are already under way by some officials and financiers of Peking and other cities to establish a new Sino-British bank. The plans have not yet reached the stage that calls for an announcement concerning the capitalisation and the scope of activities of the new institution. Several Chinese in Peking however have been negotiating with Mr. Richard Dalla of Shanghai who is said to have undertaken the task of interesting British Capital. It was reported in Peking today that as soon as the new bank is established it will negotiate for a loan to the Central Government.

CHANGCHOW HAS WETTEST SUMMER

(China Press Correspondence)

Changchow, Ku., July 13.—Old residents say we have had the heaviest rain that Changchow has seen for some 18 years. Anyway it was no uncommon thing to see the folks bailing out the water from their homes and the canals are full to their brim, and more in many places through the country.

We are also having our share in the world wide "fashion" of strikes as we have had three on the part of the ricksha coolies this year. The longest lasted a week. We were made to wonder how we used to get on without them. But the matter was settled, the coolies gaining to the extent of a reduction of taxes or rent of 30 cash a day.

Changchow's first foreign flour mill opened recently but a shortage of wheat caused it to shut down. We are hoping it means some good flour close at home. The representative of the Company which supplied the machinery assured us that we should expect it.

The various schools have closed and most of the teachers are off for holidays or to some summer normal school for further training.

The local hospital opened by the Methodist Church and the gentry of the city in 1918 is rejoicing over securing one of the old yamen sites of the city, some 10 mow of land, for the location of the new hospital which we hope to build as a result of the centenary movement of the M. E. Church South, and the help of the local gentry. The above land was contributed, the church paying for the buildings that are on it. News has just been received that Dr. Russell will be arriving early in September. We are also hoping for a foreign nurse.

Judging from the numerous buildings going up all over the city we are enjoying decided prosperity despite the hard times and high prices of all that one buys on the street.

Empire Bank To Work On Exchange Is Darling's Plan

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 14.—At the Empire Agricultural Conference today in London, Mr. John Darling, of the London City and Midland Bank, explained his scheme for an Imperial currency based on commodity bills of exchange and the establishment of an Empire bank. He said that Treasury Bills, which had become the real basis of our currency and credit system, should be used as a balance factor in exchanges with Great Britain and the Dominions. The restoration of confidence in the rupee might be an important step towards trade revival. It would pay Great Britain as a business step to co-operate with India in restoring such confidence.

Wait Upon China To Send Guards For Shantung Ry.

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, July 12.—Japanese troops along the Tsinan-Kiaochow Railroad have not been withdrawn though some of the guard detachments are moved from time to time, it was said at the Japanese legation today in answer to reports published in Chinese papers, that the legation had notified the Government of the withdrawal of troops.

The troops will be withdrawn as Japan has promised, it was said, but it was the understanding that they would be withdrawn only as soon as China has organised a guard capable of protecting the railroad properly and the lives and property of all residents in the district regardless of nationality.

The Chinese Government has not yet notified the Japanese that this guard has been organised and ready to take over the duties so the Japanese soldiers are still guarding the line.

Warlord's Guns Are Seized By Customs

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, July 12.—Indirect evidence that General Chang Tso-lin really intends to send an expedition into Mongolia was revealed today when the Customs officers in Tientsin seized 14 wireless outfits, 12 machine guns and a quantity of rice destined for the Mukden headquarters. The Central Government notified the Customs to release the goods which were seized because the proper passes and certificates were not attached.

Movement Started To Oust Chen Tu-Hsiu

Philippine Bank's Ex-Head Enters Not Guilty Plea

Manila, July 7.—"Not guilty" was the plea of General Venancio Concepcion, ex-president of the Philippine National Bank, when arraigned yesterday before Judge Carlos P. Imperial of the court of first instance of Manila to answer the second charge of violation of Act. No. 2747 made in a complaint filed on July 1 against him by City Fiscal Torres.

General Concepcion and his Attorneys Hartigan, Welch and Calvo presented yesterday a demurrer to the first charge.

It is argued that the prohibition in the law alleged to have been violated by the accused wholly affects the corporation and not individually the directors, agents or other officers connected with the institution inasmuch as the punishment provided for in Sec. 49 of Act. No. 2747 of the Philippine Legislature does not apply to the case at bar.

It is argued further by the counsel for the defense that the contentions in the complaint so filed do not constitute a sufficient ground for action.

August 1 has been designated for the trial of the second case.

The demurrer follows in part:

"It should be borne in mind that this is purely a criminal matter and that the decision does not affect the civil rights that stockholders or creditors of the bank may have to recover a personal judgment under the well-established rules governing misconduct of bank officials who violate prohibitions established by statute.

"A discussion of the merits has no place here, but as we have seen from the foregoing, neither the government of the Philippine Islands nor of the United States regards such transaction as improper, much less as illegal, and we submit that the defendant is entitled to a dismissal of the complaint and the vindication consequent thereto, and thus be spared the burden, odium, and expense of a useless criminal trial."

Five Armed Robbers Pay Death Penalty

Five Chinese armed robbers were executed yesterday at the rifle butts in Nantao by order of the local Defense Commissioner. All the prisoners had been convicted previously by the International Mixed Court for committing an armed robbery on the night of January 5 at a tobacconist shop on Yahgtszepoo Road, and for other raids.

Representatives of the families and shops affected and of the International Settlement police were invited to witness the execution.

MAKE MANILA COMMERCE BASE IS WOOD'S PLAN

Great Free Port Able To Compete With All Is Islands' Need

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Manila, July 4 (by mail).—Strong measures to put American commerce on its feet and the transformation of Manila into a trade base, were urged by Major-General Leonard Wood in a recent address here before the American Chamber of Commerce.

American shipping would have to be subsidised, he said, either through the sale of government vessels to private owners at a fraction of their original cost, or by leases to private operators on terms which would make the use of these vessels profitable. He added that America had indulged in too much verbal massage after the war as a solution of her shipping problem.

General Wood further spoke as follows:

"Some fifteen years ago Mr. Forbes and I were on a committee for the development of Philippine commerce, and we had dreams at that time of making Manila a great free port—a port which could compete successfully with any other in the Far East—for the distribution of American goods. There is no reason why that should not be done now, but before it can be "put over" we must have an intelligent and consistent foreign policy.

URGES CABLES

"We want better means of communication, not only throughout the Philippines, but across the Pacific. We ought to have a direct cable. Your cable rates are very high, almost too high for business unless the business is very profitable. We also want well equipped lines of American steamers.

"We built about 15,000,000 dead-weight tons of shipping during the war, at a cost of about $220 a ton, compared to $65 to $80 a ton before the war in America and the United Kingdom. Our ships are now rusting in American harbors. At San Francisco there are 100 that have never been to sea. We must get them into service, which will have to come through a subsidy of some sort.

"One thing is evident here; the Philippine coastwise communications are wretched. A great many planters have come to see us on our provincial trips. They complain of the lack of means of communication. There has also been a reversion to a vicious practice of Spanish times; unless the planters sell to certain buyers, often they cannot get their products carried.

COMMERCIAL RIVALRY

"I have already spoken about our loss of world trade when we had it, after the war, practically within grasp. On the other hand, England, with an empty treasury, went quietly to work to regain her foreign commerce. And she is doing it. So is Germany. When we come in contact with European countries—especially with the Central Powers—we are going to find this competition very sharp. It is to be a keen struggle; success can be attained only by organised effort. Of course the uncertainty of American tenure in the Philippines is tending somewhat to hold back development.

"But I believe that you out here in Manila are going to be the center of one of the greatest trade areas in the world. You are right on the edge of one of the greatest trade empires of the world—China. You people ought to get together and make Manila a great distributing port. I am pretty sure the people at home will back you up."

At the conclusion of General Wood's remarks, the members unanimously voted a resolution advocating a fixed political status for the Philippines under the American flag.

Score Peking Attitude Toward Education

Representatives of the Peking students in Shanghai, who have recently organised a society here, issued a declaration on Thursday attacking the action of the Peking administration in suppressing the students' demonstration on June 3 and "hindering the progress of education generally."

The declaration appeals to the people to "struggle with the sinful government in order to bring reformation to society."

Heavy Rain Breaks Drought In Britain

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 14.—The prolonged drought in the United Kingdom was broken today by thunderstorms and heavy rains in the West and South of England and a slight fall of rain in London.

WASEDA BASEBALL PLAYERS MAKE BIG HIT IN AMERICA; "BABE" TANAKA NOT CLOUTING

Japanese Team Makes Itself Solid In United States Because Of Attitude Toward Game; American Pitchers Too Good For Tokio Collegians

Chicago, June 23.—American college pitchers have proved too much for K. Tanaka, center fielder on the Waseda University Japanese ball team now touring the United States. In the Tokio college league, Tanaka is known as the "Babe Ruth" of the league. He holds a record of six home runs in six games during last winter's season in Japan, but thus far he has failed to solve the American puzzlers for a circuit clout.

G. Taniguchi, the Japs' star left-hander, has been likewise unable to duplicate his record made in Tokio during his American trip. Last winter he pitched two no-hit, no-run games, but thus far every American team has scored on him. His effectiveness is due mainly to a swift drop, with which he has often retired his opponents with three strike-outs in a row. Taniguchi is 20 years old and a freshman.

TWO GOOD HURLERS

Waseda has two good right-handers in S. Matsumoto and F. Arita. In the last of the three games series with the University of Chicago, Arita replaced Taniguchi in the 7th inning with the bases full and two out. He struck out the next man up, but when Chicago filled the sacks again in the 8th, a single drove in two runs and lost the game and the series for the Nipponese.

Matsumoto is a short little fellow, quite in contrast to J. Kuji, the catcher, who is probably the tallest man in the team. In practice Matsumoto has to pitch uphill to his lanky receiver, but when Kuji crouches behind the plate, he picks off the speediest balls and unwinds himself in ample time to whip them over to second.

Captain S. Takamatsu, the left-handed first baseman, is a lively player and eastern baseball men told him he was worth a substitute's berth in major league ball, according to H. S. Benninghoff, an American professor of political science at Waseda, who is acting as business manager of the American tour.

T. Kato and T. Oshito cover left and right field, respectively. N. Tomonaga plays second and T. Kubbta scoops up the ball in lively American fashion at short. The third baseman, J. Ishii is one of the best all-around men on the team. J. Nagano is the reserve catcher.

DIFFERENT SLANT

The Japanese seem to have a different psychological slant on baseball than the Americans. The whole team plays with constant smiles wreathing their countenances and a mistake means only an excuse for another display of pearly teeth. They are an alert lot of ballplayers, never still, and always eager to get at the ball. There is none of the serious expression or the half-angry look which is seen on the faces of most American ballplayers in the middle of a hot game.

Real pleasure in playing the game crops out all over the Jap team. So eager are they to "Get into the game" that twice during the last game with Chicago, players collide in the field in their scramble after the ball. Each time they came up smiling and took the mistake good-naturedly.

The Waseda players say they have enjoyed their visit immensely. This is the first visit to America for this year's team, many of them being freshmen. Practically all of the men are merchants' sons and all are taking commercial or political courses.

"We like your big universities and especially the gymnasiums," M. Nakamura, scorer and graduate manager, said. "We do not have such big gymnasiums, although we have all kinds of athletics, such as football, baseball, track and field meets, boating and tennis."

The team was expected to sail for Japan on July 14, after a two month and a half tour of America.

BAER SAYS "BUGS" Baer:

THE RIGHT HAND OF FELLOWSHIP

Always Extended With Knuckles First, And Followed By The Left Mitt

BY "BUGS" BAER

Anybody at all:

My man reaped all of Gink's teeth like a harvest with one swell floop or one fell swoop, whatever you call it on Thursdays.

They never taught "Forward March" in Roughtown schools because they didn't have any. Fowler's feet could only advance backwards.

My man plowed him up like a stubble field. You say, "Whatta punch he had."

You mean, "Whatta punch he got."

A murderer sometimes revisits the scene of his crime. But the murdered never does.

Get me?

You know what I mean, you park bench tourist.

After this, stick to words you can spell. My man made Gink fall like a disk of clabber off the Washington Monument.

I ought to know—because my man is myself.

Yours until the Statue of Liberty is a dowager,

KIRK MILLER,
Lanham, Maryland.

We realise that the murdered never revisits the scene of the crime. If he had any sense he wouldn't have visited it in the first place, thereby saving his memory from sharp quips from Mr. Miller, who seems to know more than is necessary in Lanham. We once went through that town paging a panic and asked old John Finn the way out. He told us if he knew he would escape himself.

We do not wish to intimidate Mr. Miller, but a little description of Roughtown may enlighten him on the code of ethics prevailing in progressive riots. Blackjacks were always trumps, and it was customary to lead your highest card from a hand rich with brass knuckles. Ambulance gongs were used as door bells. All tournaments were miss and out. Tally cards were kept, and the spiked socks were handed to the man with the most on his conscience.

That's only the slightest clue to Roughtown. The rest will be published only when some diluted individual thinks he comes from a rougher haven than that grand old borough of restricted law and unhampered lawlessness. Whatever they say about the old place, you must admit that Roughtown was the pioneer burg of western civilisation. The men grew full beards and attacked lions with empty guns and heads. Those birds didn't have a string of Chinese numerals for a backbone. They fought the Indians in the open, not in divorce courts.

We could tell you more about this, but we know you don't want to hear it. Gink Fowler didn't use any gestures on this Miller, just words and music. He won the leather-coated quinine pills in the first round. A triple crash on the jaw and Miller fluttered to the old door mat like the leaves from a loose-leaf forest.

Another career had opened and closed like a miser's pocketbook.

PIGEON SHOOT FOR OLD BILL CUP TOMORROW

New Birds Arrive From Japan; Club Set For All Entrants; Contests Starts 4 p.m.

The "Old Bill" cup, presented to the Shanghai Clay Pigeon Club by Mr. E. O. Cumming, the owner of last Spring's champion pony will be competed for Sunday afternoon.

The shoot will commence at 4 p.m. Conditions provide 40 birds to the entrant, with the club handicap in force. It is expected that attendance will be big, and entrants numerous, in view of the enforced postponement of shooting events for the past two weeks due to non arrival of new birds from Japan. The shipment, however, has now arrived, and the club is prepared for as many entrants as care to report for shooting Sunday.

Length Tests In Golf

DIFFICULTY OF THE SPARED TEE SHOT

BY ABE MITCHELL

The old golfer is not readily convinced that the game is as well played today as it was, say, during the all-conquering reign of the Triumvirate. I overheard a discussion on this point recently and one player to clinch his argument remarked: "Well look at the tournament at Formby. Such a result could never have happened when Vardon Braid and Taylor were at their best." These three wonderful players undoubtedly did corner the honors of the game for a very long time. One might be a little out of form, but this fact was sufficient to make the other two rise to the occasion and shut out all their struggling rivals.

But I think it is fair to say that the conditions have changed. Where there was one professional twenty years ago there are two today and, moreover, they are younger men, keenly ambitious to gain the highest awards the game offers. Again the advance is not confined to numbers. The all-round level of skill is higher. For proof of this look up the competition scores. We may have neither a Vardon, a Taylor nor a Braid, judging them at their best, but if these three had their time to come over and they had to contend with the keen competition of today, the history of golf might perhaps have to be written differently. I do not think it will ever happen again that one man will surpass all his fellows.

It is probable, too, that the rubber-cored ball has had the effect of bringing players more and more together in relation to the courses. There is still, of course, considerable difference in the hitting powers of men—Ray's tee shot at a low estimate is fully twenty yards beyond the professional average—but whether this is important depends entirely on the length demand for the second shot. For instance if the long hitter can reach the green with a half mashie shot for his second, he gains little or no advantage if his shorter driving opponent can get up to the flag with a light iron. Professional golf has at any rate arrived at a stage when the length factor is the supreme test.

THE FULL SHOT

But again it is the argument of the old golfer that the best player should always win whatever the conditions. On the face of it this may seem fair but it is not. I do not want to create an impression that I am attempting to find an excuse for the failure of the recognised leaders of the game at Formby, but there are certain facts which may not be appreciated and which ought to be stated because the situation is bound to be similar on some future occasion. We rely on the wind to make most of our seaside courses difficult; in calm weather they play as easily as the sheltered inland links. But on the first day of the tournament at Formby there was practically no wind and what there was came from the wrong quarter. For the prevailing wind there is from the South West and the holes are laid out accordingly. But this time it was from the South East. The result was that the outward holes were thrown out of gear and this, as I hope to show, was a big handicap to the long hitters. In my own case I dare not take a driver off the tee at four of the first nine holes. This, in itself, was very worrying for whilst it was essential to get just far enough there was every likelihood of finishing too short. Indeed on all these tees I confess that I was in a very unsettled state. I did not know which club to take. Now for many of the competitors the question of playing short did not arise. They could hit away and there was no fear of them getting too far and into trouble. The full bang from the tee is one of the strokes in the game that are easy. But the drive for more reason than one becomes really difficult when you have to spare it. I practically put myself out of the running at Formby by taking over eighty in the first round and I could trace all my troubles to the fact that I had to check my hitting in what was an unnatural way.

THE NEW CLUB CURE

Arthur Hallam's performance was a truly great one. Rarely has one seen better putting than his. Right up to the end of the fourth round he holed out with splendid certainty. But without wishing to detract from his achievement if is probable that he would have felt his task much more severe if the length factor had entered to a greater extent. Havers again showed that he is a player we shall all have seriously to reckon with. He is of the build of the first class golfer, tall and strong, while he plays his shots in a nice, easy way. His swing with the iron clubs is flatter than usual, but it is well controlled and it is at any rate most effective. You can pick holes in the game of most men—no one could have been more criticised than I for my unorthodox grip—but the theory of golf, if not a mystery, is very elastic. Indeed in individual cases, at any rate, it would almost seem as if the laws were made to be broken.

For a little time I have not been satisfied with my driving and I have tried the old cure—new club. They say that only the bad workman blames his tools and I am afraid we are all very ready at golf to put the blame on to our clubs when the shots are not satisfactory. Still, a new club often brings about an improvement. Perhaps the fault of the old one was not quite correct. This is not so likely in the case of a wooden club, but it is the cause of many faults with the irons. The other day a player brought a club to me and complained that he was pushing out every shot with it. Would I come and see what he was doing wrong? Taking hold of the club I let it rest on the floor and at once the toe swung outwards. At once I saw what was wrong. It was not the player, but the club, and a little filing near the heel soon put the defect right. The club, of course, should never swing round in the manner described. If one of yours should do this, take it to your professional and I have no doubt that he will be able to put it right.

RED SOX PLAYS BLUE SOX AT BALL PARK TODAY WITH SAME BILL CARDED SUNDAY

Game This Afternoon Set For 3:30; All Men Appearing In Uniform Will Get In Lineup; Week-End Games May Provoke Series

THE Red Sox and the Blue Sox, the two best baseball teams that the Shanghai Baseball Club boasts of will meet this afternoon and again tomorrow, provided nothing in the way of rain or wet grounds or anything intervenes.

The games should furnish baseball interest for the fans and the players themselves such as has been brought into but very few of this season's games. The two teams are fairly divided as to strength, the rivalry between the two groups is keen. They will furnish good baseball.

Last evening's practice failed when an untimely shower dropped down on the diamond beginning at the very hour when local ball tossers were shaking off their office coats, and continuing until dark when baseball was no longer thought of. But after Thursday's workout the men are all ready to go so yesterday's shower won't bother.

While a line up has been cooked up by Manager Ross and Captain Wilhoit for each of the teams playing today, it must not be understood by other players that only the men mentioned will be worked. Many good players were not included in the list for the reason that it was not believed that they were in condition to play. Hopkins, who is recovering from a wrenched knee, and Bristow, who is nursing up an injury received ten days ago, and several others might get into the games today and tomorrow. Manager Ross said yesterday that every player appearing for the two games clad in a baseball uniform would be worked.

The lineup as announced follows:

Blue Sox—Wilhoit 1b, Crow 2b, Bills ss, Maloney 3b, Hoag c, Terry p, Arit p, Hewitt rf, Nelson cf, Sperry lf.

Red Sox—Stovall 1b, Roesser 2b, Wolfe ss, Hendrickson 3b, Griffith c, Dennison p, Merrill p, Pruitt rf, Smith cf, Merrill lf.

Terry will pitch for the Blues Saturday and Arit will hurl Sunday. For the Red Sox Dennison is slated to work Saturday, and Merrill on Sunday. The games start each day at 3:30 p.m.

WOMEN TO VOTE OR PAY FINES

Feverish Activity Scandals And A Duel Add Zest To This Election

(Dalla News Agency)

Harbin, July 11.—In accordance with the demand of the Japanese Command, the Merkuloff Government released the Semenoff ministers and delegates to the non-socialistic conference who were arrested when they attempted to follow Semenoff to Grodekovo. The pre-election campaign is concluding, the issue of franchise certificates having been extended to the 7th instant.

Under threat of fines, the inhabitants, especially the women, are registering. The campaign is vigorously continued in the press. The papers are full of slogans and violent language. The candidate list of Merkuloff is especially being attacked by the press.

On the other hand, the Merkuloff press in editorials and long articles, in resolutions of the Cossack Conference and in letters of individual Generals, is enlightening the electors on the crimes of Ataman Semenoff and his followers. The feverish activities of white guard organisations are subsiding, as they become convinced of the futility of their supporting the new (Merkuloff's) government.

Nicholas Merkuloff, who was in charge of the election campaign at Nicolsk, succeeded only in creating a public scandal, and as a result General Nikonoff insists that the scandal-monger fight a duel.

Persons arriving from Vladivostok state that many Kappelists are deserting and joining the partisans, who are protecting the rural population from Hunghutze and Semenoff bandits. The peasants are kindly disposed towards the partisans who are protecting villages from incendiarism and robbery.

Japanese Change Of Policy Hits Merkuloff Hard

(Dalla News Agency)

Harbin, July 11.—The change of Japan's policy in the Maritime Province has completely demoralised the Merkulomists who are dependent entirely upon the interventionists and opposed by the whole Russian population. The Merkuloff government now is awaiting its end but is still striving to prolong its existence.

The granting of concessions by the Chita Government to Japanese for the exploitation of timber and mineral resources in the Maritime Province is a heavy blow to the Merkuloff government. Merkuloff has applied to the Japanese Consul at Vladivostok and has been told that the Japanese business men know best from whom they should take their concessions. The Japanese Command informed him also that it intends to protect the interests of Japanese citizens who have obtained concessions from the Chita Government.

Merkuloff then protested to the Consular Corps, saying that his government has the exclusive right to grant concessions in the Maritime Province. He received a cold reply to the effect that the Corps does not wish to interfere in Russian internal affairs.

Semenoff Hordes Terrorise Villagers

(Dalla News Agency)

Harbin, July 11.—Life at Grodekovo is described by late arrivals as follows:

The local inhabitants are terrorised by requisitions and open robberies. Daily parades of Semenoff forces are held in the village. Meetings are being called by officers, where the soldiers listen to speeches of their superiors to start anew the civil war. The declarations of the Generals that they expect to be in Moscow before the winter has advanced are calling forth ironic smiles from the listeners.

Semenoff lavishly promotes his staff officers to high ranks and offers inducement to Kappelists to desert Merkuloff. The civil authorities at Grodekovo for the most part formerly of Transbaikalia, are organising the civil government by distributing ministerial portfolios for the future.

The trains arriving at Grodekovo from Golenki station are surrounded by Semenoffists who take off the passengers, traces of many of whom have been entirely lost. Semenoff's agents are purchasing weapons and military supplies in Harbin, but mainly, however, in Japan on condition that the purchases be safely delivered to Grodekovo.

STILL NEGOTIATING

(Dalla News Agency)

Harbin, July 9.—The local anti-right press reports rumors emanating from Japanese sources, that the Japanese Command is continuing negotiations with Messrs. Kojevnikoff and Zeitlin regarding the liquidation of the Maritime Province adventure.

HONAN RESORT TO BE CROWDED

(China Press Correspondence)

Chikongshan, Honan, July 11.—This mountain resort will be crowded to capacity this season for there already is a large community which will be largely increased. The walls of the large, new auditorium are rapidly being erected but the structure will not be ready for occupancy until next summer. Its cost will be at least $27,000.

The Fourth of July was observed fittingly by a musical program and an address by Rev. R. P. Thelander who gave an acceptable presentation of "The Background of the Declaration of Independence." Later there were sports, including races and tugs-of-war followed by a bountiful repast in the basement of the American School.

Miss Anges Kittelsby who has so ably presided as principal of the American School for several years returns home to America for a well deserved furlough.

Mr. J. M. Hickson who has been conducting healing missions in many cities of China was in Chikong last week and great numbers went up to ask prayer for their ailments and diseases.

There has been a very heavy mortality among the missionary community during the past year—especially in the Lutheran missions which have lost several valuable workers. A coolie strike is on, the chair-bearers declaring that the raise in rates granted by the Council is not enough because of the high cost of rice.

Hupeh Hits Snag In Attempt To Oust The Tuchun

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, July 12.—Deprived of the privilege of stating their grievances to the President and claiming to have been driven away from the gate by armed guards, Hupeh residents representing all the prefectures were to meet late today and devise a new plan of carrying on their campaign to oust General Wang Chan-yuan from office.

At a meeting yesterday the residents named delegates to represent each prefecture. The President sent the Chief of the Peking Police to tell them that he was not in a position to remove General Wang and it would be useless for them to try to obtain an audience. The delegates went anyway and were prepared to sleep at the gate and to remain there until an audience was granted.

It is generally conceded that the agitation of the Hupeh residents will avail little or nothing as General Chang Tso-lin has requested that he be retained.

Want Monopoly Of Trade In Tea With Siberians

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, July 12.—A large company that aims to take the place of the tea company that was formerly aided financially by the Russian Government, is being formed in Peking to sell tea to Russians in Siberia. Since the revolution tea has been scarce in Russia. China formerly furnished the bulk of it and the exporters were backed by the Imperial Government.

These dealers who are organising the present company will ask the Chita Government for prior rights to export and sell tea to citizens of the republic.

Koo Denies Tale Regarding Curzon

Peking, July 12.—The British foreign office has not declared that the Anglo-Japanese Alliance should be renewed as a protection to China in case Japan should attempt to seize Mongolia and Manchuria, according to authoritative information obtained today. Messages reaching Peking and purporting to carry the results of an interview between Dr. Wellington Koo and Lord Curzon were erroneous and Dr. Koo did not have the interview with Lord Curzon on May 30 as attributed to him in these reports.

Dr. Koo was reported to have said that Lord Curzon told him if the Alliance was not renewed, England would have no right to interfere in case Japan should attempt by force to seize Mongolia and Manchuria. The articles also said that Lord Curzon said the renewal was necessary because the British present diplomatic aims were first directed to the Pacific, then to Germany and then to China. Dr. Koo was reported to have asked his countrymen to give him their support in opposing the renewal of the alliance.

Dr. Koo has now said flatly that he did not visit Lord Curzon on that date nor was there such an interview at any time. The report served for a time to confuse the situation and embarrass the Minister in his work. The purported telegram was carried by the Chung Mei News Agency in good source that has sent other misfaith but was apparently from a leading messages to Peking.

Letters From Canton Being Censored Here?

A board of censors has been established by the Defense Commissioner of Shanghai, evidently in view of the political differences between this district, which is under the influence of Tuchun Lu Yung-hsiang of Chekiang, and the rest of Kiangsu.

One of the first messages bearing the mark of censorship was sent to THE CHINA PRESS by the Senate in Canton. It contained the following news item:

A Korean revolutionist named Kung arrived in Hongkong on June 26. After holding a consultation with a certain high official, he proceeded to a certain place.

"A great deal of attention is being paid to this person by a certain country as Kung is followed by over ten secret service man.

"One report says that Kung is here merely on a tour of pleasure and his mission has no political significance."

URGES PUBLIC TO AID IN HALTING RICE SMUGGLING

Provincial Officials Authorise Rewards For Information Leading To Seizures

Acting upon instructions from the Tuchun and Civil Governor of the province the Shanghai City Magistrate has issued a proclamation calling upon the public to assist in stopping the smuggling of Kiangsu rice to outside points and thus to prevent further rises in price.

The proclamation contains the following provisions:

1—Any person may give information of smuggling to the Likin offices, police stations or other yamens along the frontiers of the province.

2—If the quantity of rice seized as a result of such reports is less than 100 piculs it will be given as a reward to the informer. If over 100 piculs half shall go to the informer and the remainder to local benevolent institutions.

3—Thirty percent of the amount of rice given to informers is to be given to the police constables or Likin office employes who assist in the seizure.

4—All police stations, Likin offices and other yamens of the coast districts shall be held responsible for the prevention of smuggling. If found negligent or allowing the smuggling of Kiangsu rice the officers in charge shall be dismissed and their subordinates shall be severely punished.

5.—If any informer be found to have given false information he shall be dealt with in accordance with the law.

6.—If any transportation firm be found to have conspired in the smuggling of rice, its further carrying on of business shall be prohibited and its officials shall be punished.

The Rice Threshing Guild announced at a meeting held Thursday that business has fallen off 50 percent owing to the fact that shipments from the producing districts have been cut down and local stocks have become very low. It was decided to wire to the up-country dealers to resume shipments immediately.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells, which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying power, are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them wilfully with narcotics. Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"I have used your Castoria in my own household with good results, and have advised several patients to use it for its mild, laxative effect and freedom from harm."
EDWARD PARRISH, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"For several years I recommended your Castoria and shall always continue to do so, as it has invariably produced beneficial results."
EDWIN F PARKER, M. D., New York City.

"Your Castoria holds the esteem of the medical profession in a manner held by no other proprietary preparation. It is a sure and reliable medicine for infants and children, in fact it is the universal household remedy for infantile ailments."
J. A. PARKER, M. D., Kansas City, Mo.

"Your Castoria is a meritorious household remedy. It is purely vegetable and acts as a mild cathartic. Above all, it does no harm, which is more than can be said of the great majority of children's remedies."

AIRCRAFT FLEET TO HOLD ISLANDS IS FISKE'S PLAN

Admiral Would Have Hundred Planes As Guard For Philippines

BY FREDERIC WILLIAM WILE

Washington, July 1.—America's cardinal problem in the Pacific—defense of the Philippine Islands—can be solved by aircraft. The Islands can be held against any and all aggressors by a fleet of 100 airplanes of the most powerful type, manned by highly-trained crews. The cost would not exceed the price and upkeep of two battleships.

Those are the views of Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fiske, U. S. N. (retired), inventor of the torpedo-plane and pioneer of aircraft development among the navies of the world. Admiral Fiske's ideas on the strategic necessities of the United States in the Far East are set forth in a striking article published in the June number of the North American Review.

"The project is of current and pertinent interest at the hour when Congress is debating how to effect naval economies without jeopardising the requirements of national defense. Admiral Fiske makes a strong case for the theory that big and expensive naval forces in the Pacific are not needed to insure the security of the Philippines. American airmen operating from tactical bases, especially the Island of Luzon at the north of the group, easily can, in Admiral Fiske's judgment, make invasion and capture of the islands a military impossibility.

INDORSED TEN YEARS AGO

The views now put forward have been held by Admiral Fiske for ten years. As long ago as the winter of 1910-11 he informed the Navy General Board that it would be better to prevent the islands from being captured by an enemy than to permit them to be seized and then send out an expedition to try to retake them. His proposals were approved by the entire general board, including Admiral Dewey, but eventually blocked by one member who happened to have the ear of the Secretary of the Navy.

It is not known to many Americans that distinguished United States naval officers seriously doubt whether our fleet could ever be sent to the Far East with any reasonable prospect of victory. Distance from adequate naval bases is our insuperable difficulty. The nearest base of any kind to the Philippines is Guam, which is 1,500 miles away. The Hawaiian Islands are nearly 5,000 miles from Manila. San Francisco is 7,000 miles from Manila. Virtually the only vessels America could long maintain in Asiatic waters are submarines. Aircraft, it is represented, is our only salvation, but an exceedingly important one. It is Admiral Fiske's purpose to show the country we should not delay in establishing our aerial watch in the Archipelago.

His article, in part, reads as follows:

"The Philippines could at any time be taken by almost any great nation that might desire to take them. This casts doubt on the actual validity of our title to them and would make any attempt by Americans to develop them of more than questionable wisdom. Furthermore the great distance of the islands from America has made the problem of defending them by the ordinary methods an undertaking virtually prohibitive because of the cost in money, time and effort.

"So, the commercially and strategically valuable Philippine Islands still lie spread out on the counter for any one to take who will. It is a dangerous and foolish thing thus to leave any property wholly unprotected; and the most dangerous thing possible is to leave property unprotected from a sudden assault by a nation with which causes for friction exist. In such conditions (history tells us) some unlooked for contingency may at any time precipitate a state of popular excitement that may take the form of overt action, if a chance for such overt action be in sight. Now, in case some suddenly arising situation should cause a popular outburst against us in Japan, the chance to take the Philippines might prove too strong a temptation to be resisted.

PERIL SEEN IN WEAK NAVY

"The last Congress refused to give the Navy the very moderate amount it asked for, in order to take advantage of the possibilities of aeronautics. If Congress persists, we may find ourselves with a navy that is very expensive, but so old-fashioned as to be ineffective. Some people think that the more ineffective a navy is (the more a country is 'disarmed') the less danger there is of war. Their attention is respectfully invited to the historical fact that aggression has usually, if not always, been caused by the temptation presented by a valuable property left unprotected from attack.

"I need not say that I do not suggest using airplanes only to defend the Philippines; all the usual weapons would, of course, be needed, especially submarine. I do wish, however, to call attention to our amazing backwardness in utilising airplanes and to point out the especial attributes that make them valuable as preventers of actual invasion. These attributes are:

"First. Great speed and consequent ability to concentrate in great number against slow moving bodies such as ships, boats and troops.

"Second. Ability to rise high in the air and discern objects at great distances.

"Third. Ability to carry high explosives in convenient forms that have merely to be dropped.

"By reason of these three attributes a force of, say, 100 first-class airplanes, properly equipped and manned, if distributed at different points in Luzon (the northernmost island) would be able to concentrate at any threatened point on the coast before the invading troops could start from the transports to the shore.

"The only defense against them would be a greater force of airplanes possessed by the enemy. But it must be clear that no country in the world could compete with us in building airplanes. The cost to us of a force of airplanes able to protect the islands from being captured would probably be less than 1 percent of the cost of any endeavor to recapture them."

Far East News Notes

The passengers of the T. K. K. steamer Tenyo Maru, numbering 383 persons, who were held in a ten-day quarantine in the government isolation hospital at Wada Point near Kobe, as a result of the discovery of plague aboard ship on arrival from Shanghai, were given all of the comforts of home. Books, papers, athletic apparatus, phonographs and even movies were provided for the entertainment of the interned voyagers. Food was supplied from the Oriental hotel. The Tenyo had on its lists 95 cabin, 56 second class and 232 steerage passengers when quarantined. The vessel was fumigated.

The new Western dances are being taken up by prominent and titled Japanese in Tokio. A class has been organised and it is hoped to give weekly dances, Western style beginning in September. Baron and Baroness Togo, Baron and Baroness Oki and thirty others attended the first meeting of the new club.

Chinese students in Tokio, who have been without funds for some time due to the suspension of remittances by Peking will be aided by the Japanese government through the Yokohama Specie Bank to the extent of Yen 100,000.

Dr. C. T. Wang has sent out a telegram to the provinces reporting that the Chekiang Provincial Constitution under his direction will be soon drawn up. He states that Tuchun Lu Yung-hsiang is very earnest in his desire to let the people have a self-determined government.

It is stated that the claims for damages arising from the Wuchang mutiny amount to $3,400,000. This sum, owing presumably to exaggeration on the part of many of the claimants, is believed to be considerably above the real mark, which probably does exceed $2,500,000. The total number of people killed during the mutiny is now estimated at 50, of whom several were women and girls who committed suicide upon hearing that the soldiers were at large.

Some startling figures are embodied in the official return of imports and exports of the Straits Settlements for the quarter ended March 31. Compared with the corresponding period of last year imports have decreased by $180,591,072, equivalent to £21,068,959 while exports have fallen away to the extent of $215,463,180, or £25,137,370. Imports into Singapore decreased by $133,423,437, into Penang by $40,311,574 and Malacca $6,856,061 and exports fell short of the 1920 figures as follows: Singapore $159,326,657, Penang $44,053,669 and Malacca $12,087,854.

At a recent meeting of the legislative council at Singapore a motion was made for the progressive reduction of allowances to government servants ending with the final abolition of same at the end of the year. The motion was not seconded, and was withdrawn. The Governor referred to the 25 percent reduction already made and argued that it was unsafe to assume that living costs would be sufficiently reduced by December 31 to justify total withdrawal. It was impossible yet to put the salaries on a permanent basis, he said.

The rubber restriction committee at Singapore recommends the Government to appoint a small committee to go fully into the rubber position and make suggestions. The outlook remains very black and a complete cessation of tapping is urgently recommended.

The Singapore Legislative Council voted $498,765 out of the revenues of the Colony to make up the difference in the Currency Commissioner's accounts between the market value of securities and their purchase price. The Colonial Treasurer mentioned that this was only the second occasion that such a vote had been necessary during the 22 years that Government paper currency had been running; first in 1905 when $747,000 were voted, but refunded in 1919.

According to a Hongkong telegram, an attempt was made on General Lu Yung-ting's life by a man named Tai Sheng-piao a few days ago, when the former was on his way to Yungchow. The would-be assassin fired upon General Lu but missed. He was immediately arrested by General Lu's bodyguard and executed after a trial. The man is a native of Chingchow, Kwangtung.

One hundred Cantonese school students are being selected to be sent to the Lyons University in France for a six year term of study. It is estimated that the annual expenses for each student will be about $600, which will be protected, if needed, by a subsidy by the Southern government.

Fifty mow of land near to the Summer Palace at Peking will be reclaimed by a scheme of General Wang Hwai-ching of the Metropolitan Gendarmerie, designed to relieve the suffering of Peking's homeless poor. The plan provides that families may occupy the land exempted from taxes provided they work on the reclamation project. The scheme becomes effective July 15.

Important Notice

We have perused an article in the Peking and Tientsin newspapers about the sale of the undermentioned Company to the foreigners by Mr. Chang Kien Hoa (張劍秦), which has much surprised us. As this Company is part of the public estate of the "Chang Tzu" (張氏), no person or persons (Chang Tzu) can sell it individually and privately even the public (foreign and Chinese) cannot purchase without legal action. The business of this Company has been growing steadily, its trustworthiness and good financial standings are well known to the public, therefore, no necessity exists to sell to others or to issue any share script. If any mortgage is made through Mr. Chang with others it is to be considered as his personal affair, and this Company will not be responsible for same.

Sportbanks Fleece Masses In Germany

Berlin, June 15.—A gigantic swindle has been brought to light in Saxony. For many months institutions calling themselves sportbanks have been springing up all over the country. In Dresden the two chief concerns of the kind were the Germania Sportbank and the Koehn Sportbank. These two institutions had between them about a dozen branches in Dresden alone, and others in various parts of southern Germany. In Berlin and other cities similar banks came into existence.

Now the Germania and Koehn banks have suspended payment, and it is believed the swindle has been of such proportions as to create a distinct record in the history of fraud. Directors of the concerns have fled, but two have been arrested at Karlshorst.

By means of a big advertising campaign the sportbanks persuaded people to invest money with them. A dividend of 100 percent, less 5 percent for charges, was promised after money had been invested for a period of eight weeks. For a considerable time such dividends were actually paid out, and when this was seen there was an enormous rush of the public to invest.

At the Dresden banks people stood for hours in long queues in order to invest money. So great was the crush for weeks that the police had to be called in to preserve order.

For a while all went well and the craze spread. One Berlin bank boasted in an advertisement it had paid out 29,000,000 marks in dividends since the beginning of the year but did not say how much it had received.

The Dresden concerns suspended payment today and there was a tremendous run by investors desiring their money back. They were met with the chilling announcement that the police had opened an investigation into the matter. Further big crashes all over the country are expected.

The banks were quite frank about their sources of income. They used the money paid in to carry out vast betting transactions on race courses. It is alleged large sums were used to bribe jockeys so that certain big betting deals might be successful.

It is not yet known how great are the sums involved in this record swindle which has appealed so strongly to the get-rich-quick desires of masses of the people. One estimate puts it at more than 1,000,000,000 marks.

Lih Teh Oil Mill Company Meeting

The Lih Teh Oil Mill Company, Ltd., held its annual meeting of shareholders at the office of their secretaries, Messrs. A. W. Burkill and Sons, yesterday. The directors present were Mr. C. R. Burkill, Mr. L. Straetmans, Mr. Liu Chang-ying and Mr. F. J. Burrett. Mr. Burkill occupied the chair. The number of shares represented at the meeting was 456.

After the secretary had read the notice of the meeting and the report of the auditors, the chairman said:

"The report and accounts having been in your hands for some time, I will follow the usual course and take them as read. The year under review has been a difficult one, and owing to the continued fall in values of oils in Europe it was decided to close the mill in June 1920. This course proved to be a wise one, as with the high cost of seeds, and the continuous fall in values of oil and cake, it would have been quite impossible to operate profitably. Out of the financial year the mill has only been operated for 66 days. Against the stocks on May 30, 1920 there was set aside a reserve of Taels 50,000 in case of a further fall in market values, and this sum has just been sufficient to cover the losses in liquidating stocks carried over from the previous year. The balance of loss is chiefly the expense of the mill standing idle for nearly 10 months, viz., insurance, repairs, wages and interest.

"Turning to the balance sheet, the oil stock in Europe has been liquidated at a figure covering the value in the balance sheet and the stock of oil and cake as on May 31, 1921 has since been sold at a value covering the figures they were valued at.

"As the markets for cake and oil showed signs of improvement and cottonseeds were obtainable at a reasonable price, the mill started operations in April of this year and has since then been running full time, and finding a ready sale for its production.

"The plant has been kept in good condition and thoroughly overhauled, while the mill was silent.

"Machinery to the value of Taels 21,000 has been added during the year with a view to increasing output in quantity and quality."

The following resolutions were then unanimously passed:

"That the report and accounts for the year ended May 31, 1921, together with the recommendation as to balance at debit of profit and loss account as presented be accepted."

Proposed by: Mr. C. R. Burkill and seconded by Mr. F. J. Burrett.

"That the appointment of Mr. C. R. Burkill as a director of the company be confirmed."

Proposed by Mr. F. J. Burrett and seconded by Mr. Liu Chang-yin.

"That Mr. F. J. Burrett be re-elected a director of the company."

Proposed by: C. R. Burkill and seconded by: Mr. Liu Chang-yin.

"That Messrs. C. B. and N. Thomson be re-elected auditors to the company."

Proposed by: Mr. W. A. Ogden and seconded by: Mr. S. R. Owen.

Padang Rubber Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Padang Rubber Co., Ltd., took place yesterday. Mr. C. R. Burkill presided and was supported by Messrs. E. T. Byrne, Chun Bing Him, directors, and Messrs. Owen and Ogden. The number of shares represented was 8,785. The secretary having read the notice of the meeting and the auditors' report, the chairman said:

"The report and accounts having been in your hands for some time, I will follow the usual course and take them as read.

"The result of the year's working shows a profit of Tls. 20,515.24, half of this however being due to exchange adjustments and over one quarter being interest earned on the Company's investments and surplus funds. The rubber account, however, shows a small profit and considering the reduction in the average price realised and the large amount of stocks taken into account at the end of the year at a low figure, the results may be considered as not unsatisfactory.

"A reference to the report will show you that the output was about 28,000 lbs. less than that for the previous year, the condition of the bark necessitating very conservative tapping.

"I am glad to say however that there is a distinct improvement in the conditions in this respect referred to last year.

"In spite of the reduced output and increased cost of weeding, the cost of production is only a fraction of a penny higher than the previous year.

"The health of both the foreign staff and native labor has again been far from satisfactory. Measures were taken to effect an improvement by oiling, but the results obtained did not justify the heavy expenditure and the work has been stopped.

"An effort was made to establish a Tamil force on the Estate but the experiment did not prove a success and reports received indicate that this class of labor is not likely to ever be suitable for the conditions ruling on the estate, the configuration of which being such that only Chinese can be employed for the tapping and weeding work.

"During the present crisis in the industry every possible economy consistent with efficient upkeep is being instituted. The directors contemplate the cessation of all tapping until prices improve, at present it would seem that this will be an economy and the resting will be of great benefit to the trees, while in view of the class of labor employed on the Estate it is not anticipated that difficulty would be experienced in replacing the tapping force, should a resumption of production be found desirable. The company is fortunate in possessing some Tls. 70,000 in cash and liquid assets, which would suffice for bare upkeep for a long period.

"The directors recommend the writing down of buildings, machinery, etc. to the previous nominal figures, carrying forward Tls. 21,538.55.

"Before answering any questions you may wish to ask, the directors take this opportunity of expressing their appreciation of the good work of the Manager, Mr. Le Doux and his assistants under trying health conditions."

No questions being asked the following resolutions were then unanimously carried:

"That the report and accounts for the year ended April 30, 1921 together with the recommendation as to appropriation of balance at credit of profit and loss account as presented be accepted."

Proposed by: Mr. C. R. Burkill and seconded by: Mr. E. T. Byrne.

"That the appointment of Mr. C. R. Burkill as a director of the company be confirmed."

Proposed by: Mr. E. T. Byrne and seconded by: Mr. Chung Bing-him.

"That Mr. E. T. Byrne be re-elected a director of the company."

Proposed by: Mr. Chung Bing-him and seconded by: Mr. W. A. Ogden.

"That Messrs. G. H. and N. Thomson be re-elected auditors to the company."

Proposed by: Mr. Owen and seconded by: Mr. W. A. Ogden.

Cotton

Messrs. J. Spunt and Company write as follows in their cotton market report of today:

China Cotton.—Prices on the local staple continued upward throughout the past week showing at the close a rise of Tls. 1.50 per picul above the level ruling during the previous period. This is attributable more to speculative operations than any legitimate demand as the Mills are indifferent for the time being to the native fiber in that Mid-Americans are now obtainable at comparatively cheaper rates and it appears probable that so long as U.S.A. prices and exchange remain favorable the American staple will be sought for by the Spinners in China generally to the almost entire exclusion of the native product until such time as the new season crop becomes marketable and evinces rates very much below the current values. For the present no transactions are reported to have been concluded involving new season Cotton nor has any reliable information come as yet to hand from the various sections of the China Cotton belt from which one could deduce an approximate estimate of the expected size of the coming crop. One thing may now be stated with confidence and that is the carry over of the old crop this year is the smallest known for many years in the past and it is such factor which may be taken as principally influencing the current trend of the market. Tone of the market, firm.

They Have Done It For You, Chang Tso-lin!

BY JOSEF W. HALL

THE opera-bouffe expedition of Chang Tso-lin against Urga has been made pure farce through the ousting of Ungern and his Cossacks by an expedition sent into Mongolia by the Chita government under the guise of the "Mongolian Revolutionary Army." If the Dalta News Agency communique is to be accepted, Chita's soldiers together with the Mongolians whom they have rallied round them, have actually entered Urga itself. "Our frontier cavalry," states the Manchuli message published yesterday, "energetically pursued the panic-stricken enemy, and on July 6 joyfully greeted the Russo-Mongolian population of Urga, entering the city at four o'clock in the afternoon." (Presumably of July 5.)

Only five months ago the Russo-Mongolian population of Urga were joyfully greeting Baron Ungern von Sternberg's freebooters as their deliverers from the insufferable tyranny and robbery of the Chinese garrison. We wonder who will deliver them next.

Coincident with the announcement by the Russian Siberian authorities that they have settled the question of the Ungern "kingdom" in Mongolia, is published the telegram of Chang Tso-lin to the Peking government that he is going to Peking personally to collect more money and supplies for his Mongolian expedition. Chang will probably convince Peking that, although the need for active measures in Mongolia is past, he must have another million or so in order to keep his forces in the necessary state of preparedness.

The most interesting feature of Chita's coup in Mongolia is the demonstration that the Russians know how to deal with the Chinese politicians. Ungern has really proved to be a most useful person to them; far more so than to Japan, whose commanders have recently been sending home pessimistic despatches as to value received from Japan's Semenoff-Ungern investment.

The establishment of Ungern in Mongolia was a threat to Chita as well as a blow to China's prestige. The Russians made the very natural proposal that Chita and Peking should cooperate in driving him out. Peking, aware of the danger of losing her advantage in the Chita-China treaty parleys, and unwilling to become indebted to the government which she had treated as a diplomatic inferior, declined with thanks, and proceeded to demonstrate its mastery of the situation by outfitting Chang Tso-lin to reconquer Mongolia. The Fengtien overlord, with his own game to play, collected all the High Commissionerships and coin in sight, and delayed all operations awaiting the next change in the situation.

Meanwhile Chita, with the ever obtainable support of some Mongol chieftains, quietly organised and equipped the "Mongolian Revolutionary Army" and drove Ungern out. Chita, with her own troops in Urga, now holds the trump card in the game of putting across a treaty with China.

We may expect that the next development will be the consummation of a treaty between the two governments, one of the stipulations of which (to the pride of China's Foreign Office) will be the withdrawal of "Bolshevik" troops from Urga.

It will be interesting to see if Peking officially calls off the Mongolian expedition. It may be taken for granted that Chang Tso-lin's High Pacification Commissionership of Mongolia will stand as long as that satrap maintains his dominance over Peking.

Although his Mongolian expedition has been the butt of some ridicule on the part of those who lack the delicate sensibility necessary to an appreciation of Chinese political intrigue, Chang Tso-lin is not, from the pragmatical standpoint, making any fool of himself. When, following the treaty with Chita, China again garrisons Urga, it will be the Manchurian-Mongolian overlord's troops who march in. And the correctness of the old Chinese adage that more victories are won by waiting than by fighting will be again demonstrated.

The laugh is distinctly upon Peking, but Peking exists to be laughed at.

"365 DAYS IN THE YEAR"

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

SIR.—It is perfectly astounding to think that there has been permitted to appear in your journal during the last two days an advertisement which can only be characterised as a disgrace and an insult. I refer to the following which appeared on page 6:

> WANTED, male Eurasian as telephone operator. Must speak Chinese and read, write and speak English. Eight hours daily, 365 days a year. Reply in own handwriting, stating experience and salary expected, to Box 1191, THE CHINA PRESS.

There is something utterly callous and brutal about the whole thing which smacks of slave driving: "Eight hours daily, 365 days a year."

We are in very bad times, and offices are more in the mood to reduce staffs than to take on new men, and there is a fearful lot of unemployment in Shanghai. No doubt some miserable being in the last ditch will want to take on this slave's job, and that is where your conscienceless advertiser expects to score.

But don't you honestly think that it is stooping very low for a foreign firm here to nail a man, whether white, yellow, brown or black, down to slaving eight hours every day of the year?

I wonder what your American readers must think of it, bearing in mind the conditions of service in their own homeland. I am, etc.,

INDIGNANT.

Shanghai, July 15.

[Editor's note: We ourselves queried the advertisement quoted by our correspondent. The advertiser replied: "I work 365 days in the year and I want a man willing to work along with me. If there is such a man I will pay him liberally. I have had no end of trouble with Chinese operators, taking days off, sending substitutes, etc." On this showing we decided it would be unfair to reject the advertisement.]

JAPANESE STUDENTS

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir.—At midnight July 12, a great quarrelling occurred near our college gate. We staying in the dormitory apposite our college, were awakened. A few minutes later we heard the desperate shouts in Chinese "Rescue! Rescue!" We clapped our hands and heard some men fleeing. The next morning I found by inquiry that two Japanese students of the Tungwen College on Hungjao Road had come back in rickshas to their college at midnight from Hongkew, a district very far away from Siccawei or Hungjao Road. When they arrived near our college, they got down from their rickshas and paid the ricksha men only four cents each! The latter refused to accept the money and the Japs struck them and fled on hearing our clapping of hands.

I wish the readers of THE CHINA PRESS to be careful in forming any impression of the Japanese. The Japanese students of the Tungwen college are supposed to be well educated but their actions are no better than those of a barbarous race. It is not unusual that the Tungwen Japs take refreshment at the restaurants in Siccawei and do not pay a cash for it until they are run chased by the waiters of the restaurants for half a mile.

I doubt that the Japanese Military Government can ever be reformed by its people who are themselves so unlawful. Yours truly,

A NANYANG STUDENT.

July 15, 1921.

"St. Swithin's Day, if thou dost rain,
For forty days it will remain:
St. Swithin's Day, if thou be fair,
For forty days 'twill rain nae mair."

Yesterday was St. Swithin's Day, and an old popular legend has it, that if it rains on that day, it will continue to do so for another forty days, but if it be fine, then we can make arrangements for picnic and outdoor parties without fear for as many days as Moses was up on the mountain.

Who was this St. Swithin? And how did it arise that his name became associated with so long a spell of fair or wet weather?.

As nearly as the modern historian can place him, he was born close to the old cathedral city of Winchester about 800. He entered, as soon as his age would allow him, the old city abbey, and gradually rose to be its prior. Egbert, the English king, made him Bishop of Winchester in 852. He became the trusted counsellor of Ethelwulf, and when that ruler sent his famous son, Alfred the Great, to Rome it was St. Swithin who accompanied him. He died in 862—and this brings us to our second question.

St. Swithin was noted equally for his uprightness and humility. So far did he carry the latter quality, that, on his deathbed, he requested to be buried not within the church, but outside in the churchyard, on the north of the sacred building, where his corpse might receive the eavesdroppings from the roof, and his grave be trodden by the feet of the passers-by. His lowly request was complied with, and in this neglected spot his remains reposed till about a hundred years afterwards, when a fit of indignation seized the clergy that the body of so pious a member of their order was allowed to occupy such a position; and on an appointed day they all assembled to convey it with great pomp into the adjoining cathedral of Winchester.

When they were about to commence the ceremony, a heavy rain burst forth, and continued without intermission for the forty succeeding days. The monks interpreted this tempest as a warning from heaven of the blasphemous nature of their attempt to contravene the directions of St. Swithin, and, instead of disturbing his remains, they erected a chapel over his grave, at which many astounding miracles were performed. From this circumstance, it is stated, arose the popular belief of the anniversary of the attempted translation of St. Swithin being invested with a prophetic character in reference to the condition of the weather for the insuing six weeks.

The belief in the peculiar characteristic of St. Swithin's Day is thus alluded to in 'Poor Robin's Almanic' for 1697:

In this month is St. Swithin's Day,
On which, if that it rain, they say,
Full forty days after it will
Or more or less, some rain distill.
This Swithin was a saint I trow,
And Winchester's bishop also,
Who in his time did many a feat,
As popish legends do repeat:
A woman having broke her eggs,
By stumbling at another's legs,
For which she made a woeful cry.
St. Swithin chanced for to come by,
Who made them all as sound or more
Than ever that they were before.
But whether this were so or no,
'Tis more than you or I do know.
Better it is to rise betime,
And to make hay while the sun doth shine,
Than to believe in tales and lies,
Which idle monks and friars devise.

Has the old belief any foundation in fact? A record of some twenty years was taken from Greenwich Observations, and curiously enough the record spell of wet weather came in 1848, when for 31 days it rained—but in this year St. Swithin's Day was gloriously FINE; 29 days of rain is the next wettest patch, which occurred in 1860—and again St. Swithin's Day was FINE.

So much for fact; and so little for fiction.

In the 18th. century Gay remarks in his Trivia—

Now if on Swithin's feast the Welkin lours,
And every penthouse streams with hasty showers,
Twice twenty days shall clouds their fleeces drain,
And wash the pavement with incessant rain.
Let not such vulgar tales debase thy mind;
Nor Paul nor Swithin rule the clouds or wind!

It is raining now!

Conan Doyle Tells Of New Spirit Mystery

Strange Ethereal Substance Which Emanates From Mediums In State Of Trance Puzzles Students Of Occult—Photographs Prove Its Existence

The "Life After Death" and the material of which spirits are made were discussed recently by Sir A. Conan Doyle in a lecture at Queen's Hall, London. Some of his extraordinary statements concerning the material ethereal substance, called ectoplasm or psychoplasm, are being widely discussed.

The substance of which Sir A. Conan Doyle spoke, it is claimed by advanced spiritualists, emanates from mediums in a state of trance, and from it the spirit "forms" are built.

BY SIR A. CONAN DOYLE

Granting that the phenomena of spiritualism are true, granting that entities do come back and exhibit intelligence, are these entities spirits of the dead, or is it conceivable that there is some composite form built up by magnetic powers that we know nothing of, that must be judged by each one according to his own experience and knowledge?

We want to go back to that theological basis of the whole subject about which so much has recently been discovered.

MYSTERIOUS SUBSTANCE

We know well that miracles are not performed. They do not happen; everything is done by law, and when we see a thing we do not understand it is because some law which we do not realise is overcoming some law which we do know about.

We are beginning to discover the laws which underlie communication. Our fresh knowledge is really only an amplification of that which the earlier spiritualists knew. The earlier spiritualists knew that, when working with a medium, a semi-luminous, thickish vapor, which coalesces and becomes a sort of solid, presented itself. They found it to be a soft, viscous, dough-like mass, and out of that dough-like mass was formed different forms of bodies, like ourselves, built up by the materialising medium.

All this they put on record; all this was ridiculed; all this, however, has now been proved up to the hilt. A French lady Mme. Bisson, and a German doctor, Dr. Schrenck-Notzing, have conducted experiments with a medium called Eva.

This Eva used to throw out a peculiar stuff closely resembling that which I have described. Sometimes it would come—sometimes not. When it did come it appeared to be a putty-like material emanating from the medium's body, and was reabsorbed into the medium's body, but while it existed it was capable of being moulded into fantastic shapes—heads, bodies—quite outside the medium who lay entranced.

PHOTOS MADE OF FORMS

Two hundred and fifty photographs, which will be found in Mme. Bisson's book, were taken from the forms assumed by this substance, and only when this substance had such strength that an actual form was completely made of it, only then did it impinge upon spiritualism for only then was it possible for something outside that substance to take command of it and to move and speak.

In the experiments with Eva, she was covered with a cloth to darkness, which is essential for this most delicate substance. Her two hands were extended through holes in the cloth and were kept there.

I was present at an experiment. Mme. Bisson said ectoplasm was forming and I was allowed to look through, and I saw this stuff, as it comes from such a medium—a long, white, stringy substance, hanging from her clothes. I put my hand through the slit and touched it. To my horror it writhed like a long worm. Looking at it clearly, I saw it was not an obvious animal, but it had the element of life in it. Wonderful stuff. The stuff, which, for some centuries, I prophesy, will occupy the very best of human brains to devise its power and meaning.

I believe that this psychoplasm, this ectoplasm, is at the base of every external physical manifestation of a medium. It is the medium giving this out, whether visible or invisible, which is the base of these different phenomena.

Great mediums are rare because there are few people who can throw out ectoplasm to that extent. Great mediums are rare—so are large telescopes; but you are prepared to take the results obtained through these telescopes, though you may never have looked through them.

All of us, I believe, have this power in different degrees. In experiments by Crawfurd in Belfast, he used to weigh every one present, and at the end of the seance, whereas the medium may have lost fifteen pounds, in energy gone out, so all round the circle everybody had lost, say, half or three-quarters of a pound in the course of the hour.

So that when four people who have no claim to be mediums sit round a table and get into movements without pressure, it means that each is giving out some of this matter, and among the four enough is obtained to get effects.

This ectoplasm, as it is now called, has been discovered before. In the Middle Ages certain persons called alchemists wrapped up their knowledge in a peculiar way, for the very good reason that the Church had a nasty way now and then of burning some of them.

But Thomas Vaughan (1650) referred to some such matter as the "matrix." He wrote:

VAUGHAN'S DESCRIPTION

"It is the first visible receptacle wherein the spiritual things are concentrated.

"It is a viscous mass impregnated with all powers celestial and terrestrial.

"It may be seen with the eyes and felt with the hands.

"It alters every moment.

"It is almost animal. It is the mother of all things.

"It is a thick water which is dry and wets not the hands, a most delicate substance and tender.

"The least violence destroys it, even the vibrations of light."

When the medium throws ectaplasm out it is manipulated by forces in the world. It is the only substance in Nature for us to be cognisant of and which yet can be manipulated by other forces outside.

How To Calm The Restless Sex

Periodic physical examinations will check the physical deterioration of young women today. This is the conclusion of leading educators and experts in physical training whose opinions were secured as the result of a questionnaire conducted by Dr. Thomas A. Storey, director of the department of hygiene of the College of the City of New York.

Dr. Storey built his symposium on statements put forth by Dr. Eugene Lyman Fiske in his article "Our Girls" in a recent issue of Good Housekeeping, which urges the periodic physical examination of young girls in order to strengthen their resistance to disease, and to counteract their frailty. Heads of colleges, State boards of health, deans of medical schools, physical directors of exclusive private schools and such organisations as the Southern Division of the Red Cross Nursing Service, have voiced positive opinion that the movement to encourage the periodic check-up will raise the average of health among the women of the country.

COLLEGE HEADS OF ONE MIND

That the frailty of the modern women permeates the community, is evident from the opinion of such women as Helen L. Burr, Dean of Women, Whitman College, Walla Walla, Washington, who says, "I am only too glad to endorse the periodic physical examination." President Ellen C. Sabin, of Milwaukee-Downer College, attributes the high record of health maintained at her institution for twenty-five years to the physical examinations held regularly for the scientific regulation of health of the pupils. Such institutions as the State University of Iowa, Leland Stanford University, Ohio State University, the University of Colorado, Brearley School and Rosemary Hall in Greenwich, Conn., favor the periodic examination. Henry C. Pierson, of Horace Mann School, also believes that a higher type of womanhood will be evolved through a system of careful and regular physical examinations.

That the downward trend in physical standards is the underlying cause of feminine restlessness, spirit of revolt, and desire for excitement is the belief of prominent physicians and educators throughout the country. Dr. Fisk's arraignment of the modern lack of discipline in young girls is echoed by Gertrude Hawley, of Northwestern University, who says, "The spirit of revolt against discipline is dangerous to future social welfare."

CAUSE OF NERVOUSNESS

It is alleged that the nervousness of "flappers," school teachers, business women and women who stay at home is an evidence of lowered resistance, low muscle tone. This spirit of restlessness is, according to those whose opinion has been expressed, not merely a moral and mental, but also a physical, sign of deterioration. The need for regular physical examinations to discover weaknesses and eradicate them applies, according to Dr. John L. Heffron, of Syracuse, especially to "the children of the well-to-do classes who patronise private schools."

Other causes attributed to the lack of physical vigor for which regular examinations would be an aid have been ascribed by the American Institute of Homeopathy which declares through Mary E. Coffin, secretary, that the bad posture of the typical "flapper" is due to "copying on the part of our imitative youngsters the ever-present slouched attitude of the fashion plates. Such slumping endangers the mental, moral and physical vigor of our growing girls."

"In his article, Dr. Fisk recommends the periodical examination of the growing girl as a means of finding out what causes not only her physical difficulties but also her eccentricities and vagaries of temperament. Dr. J H. McCurdy, secretary of the American Physical Education Association, says: "During their period of growth I believe girls should have a periodic checkup twice a year."

Education To Curb Discontent

Modern civilisation may be threatened by the weapons it has created to defend itself against possible enemies unless higher education is brought within the reach of the masses and applied unselfishly, Ernest Martin Hopkins, President of Dartmouth College, said in a recent address.

The World War and the natural progress of events have unleashed gigantic forces with which the Church, as well as the educational system, must concern itself primarily and without delay, Dr. Hopkins told the graduates. Radicalism and the rights of dissatisfied minorities presented an all important question, he said, compared to which the multitude of other problems of the time were but subordinate details.

"Is the man to be the master of the civilisation which he has created or is he its victim?" Dr. Hopkins asked. "Has man explored the realms of science and appropriated knowledge of the potentialities of these beyond his capacity to control the forces he has released or combined?

"The reaction from the recent great war has brought moral inertia and social indifference which reach alike the remotest hamlets of this great country and those of distant lands. The conditions of life in peace or war have suddenly changed.

"It is not an agreeable subject for speculation, but if evil cannot be influenced and if minorities cannot be absorbed the ultimate end is an unanswered question. The wastage of civilisation, cast aside and forsaken, becomes the inflammable tinder of discontent, which, when thrown into the smouldering fire of resentment, springs to life the searing flame of mania for destruction.

"Deadly gases which give the individual man capacity to destroy whole populations, the availability of cultures of disease and knowledge of the possibilities of propagation of these, genius for mechanical devices by which the destructive forces of explosives can be timed at a desired place for maximum effect, such are resources for the Samson, blinded mentally and spiritually, who would make the pillars built for the support of civilisation become its destruction.

"But, unless the spirit of education is dead and civilisation has lost its courage, that civilisation has not breathed life into inanimate force only to run in terror from its threat. The situation offers to men of our time the supreme challenge of all history.

"The legislative hall, the courtroom and the prison are alike powerless in this realm. We cannot make men good by legislation, nor make them work by injunction; nor can we discover malign intentions by the threat of punishment. Only by rehabilitation of the mind of man and increase of the areas of intelligence and goodness of man to an extent that shall eliminate the chance of evil infection can the opportunities of life be insured."

Dr. Hopkins was among the four recipients of the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws, the others being Dr. Hobart A. Hare and William R. Newbold, Professor of Philosophy at the university William R. Mead of New York received the degree of Doctor of Fine Arts.

Degrees in course were conferred upon 1,060 students, the largest graduating class in the history of the institution. The class was also the most widely distributed geographically, forty States and territories and thirty-five foreign countries being represented in it.
